Remarks

Our schools have been of equal length the past year with the exception of the Foster school, which made up the two weeks due in the winter term of 1912, making 31 weeks in all but the Foster, which was 33 weeks.

The attendance might have been better in a few instances, and we think the parents do wrong to allow a child to stay at home, unless physically obliged to do so.

We have had a very able force of teachers, and if any school has not proved all that was expected, please bear in mind that it may not be wholly the fault of the teacher.

LETTIE G. COLBURN, Chairman.
